

Note: Being a PDF file this page may appear larger in size; you could reduce it to normal size by using the “–zoom sign on top bar.

What is an Astro Gemstone?

A gemstone naturally produced by nature is

The important Characteristics that influence the value & strength of an Astro Gemstone

Color: The deeper the color of the gemstone the more successful it is in absorbing the cosmic rays from its respective ruling planet.

Clarity: Gemstones are considered to be good conductors of cosmic energy; the color in form of cosmic energy's absorbed from the planet by the gemstone is transferred into the body depending on the clarity of the gemstone. If the gemstone is completely filled with inclusions it would take a longer time for the cosmic rays to enter the body & percentage of rays passed into the body would be comparatively less than a gemstone with high transparency.

Weight: The unit of weight to measure gemstone is called a “carat” Abb. “cts”. This plays an important role in the performance of an Astro gemstone. A carat is further divided into 100 smaller units called as “Cents”. The weight of the gemstone to be worn depends purely on the strength of the planet & not the weight & height of the person wanting to wear a stone. So kindly consult a learned who recommends a stone on the basis of the strength of the planet & not on any other basis.

1carat = 1/5th gram

1 gram = 5carats

Types of Astro Gemstones: Vedic Astrology predictions are done on the basis of nine planets. Each of the planet has a ruling gemstone like, Sun- Ruby, Moon- Natural Pearl, Saturn.....Any other stone apart from these nine stones are considered to be semi precious. People are using substitutes in place of precious stones for instance instead of a yellow sapphire people are using yellow citrine, citrine cannot be used instead of a yellow sapphire because both of them do not have the same chemical composition. Only on the basis of color people are promoting the use of such substitutes. This is partly a part of color therapy

Effects:

Sellers & consultants do mention that it takes around 45 days to start receiving the effects from the gemstones, however we do not have any proof to back it up & we are wondering how do they measure that in how many days how much would a stone impact its wearer. So we do not comment on this & also do not wish to promote sales this way. However we strongly recommend to wear gemstones as per methodology for maximum possible effects; i.e. wear the right stone of the right weight in the right metal on the right finger on the right day at the right time by performing the right rituals. It isn't that difficult or complicated as it sounds, it's just a 15 minute procedure. However long poojas or yagnas could be performed as per your faith & convenience.

All we could say is even small stone of good quality worn rightly will be more beneficial then wearing a poor quality stone of big size.

Note: some people are strictly running behind specific size of the stone but are not concerned with the quality, rather go for the quality 1st & then think about the size.

Possess the Power of Astro Gemstone....RudraBlessings.com.